Good Directions selected to take on guttering project in Malaysia

This was a recent project that Good Directions undertook in which they produced copper guttering to be installed on a customer's house in Malaysia. The guttering in question was the standard half round and featured a mixture of guttering, downpipes, bends, and hopper heads.

The hoppers which were produced for this build were the Margaret hoppers, attached to 80mm diameter downpipes with standard half round guttering. A massive installation in an exotic part of the world, which the customer provided the drawings for, not only for his summer home but also his pet tiger's house.

The customer specifically chose Good Directions to produce and provide the guttering for him after contacting various other guttering companies around the world and shopping around for the best possible option. They subsequently invited the customer to come and tour their factory and witness first-hand his order being manufactured, which the customer was over-joyed with. Being able to visit the factory and getting an expert opinion on the guttering and the installation process put the customer at ease and assured him that he was getting high quality, UK manufactured guttering to proudly display on his house and that would last for many years to come.
