Sustainable Metal Gutta systems sought across the world

Copper gutters and downpipes are increasingly being sought by specifiers looking for environmentally friendly products with aesthetic appeal and Metal Gutta has been kept busy recently supplying its copper systems in the UK and abroad.

One order comprised a lot of copper downpipe, bends and hoppers for a prestigious project in Vietnam (pictured). The customer found the products quick and easy to install and this is one of attractions of all of Metal Gutta's systems, which now include guttering in stainless steel and zinc as well as copper.

Copper offers unrivalled life expectancy and has no need for painting. It changes colour over the years, making it an ideal choice for use with timber facades or buildings that also mellow over time.

Metal Gutta's copper systems use a large amount of recycled material, increasing the green credentials of these highly sustainable, natural products.

As well as guttering and matching clip-over leaf guards, other copper products recently manufactured and despatched by Metal Gutta include:

- Copper roof vents, hand fabricated in 0.6mm copper with perforated mesh at the front to prevent insects and birds getting in to the roof.
- V shape copper roof ridge. Easy to install to any roof, these ridges prevent the build-up of moss.
- Bespoke copper fascias and flashings. Copper is great for being able to curve around buildings with towers or bay windows and flashings can be produced in virtually any design and in lengths up to 2400mm.

Metal Gutta is part of the Good Directions group of companies.
